

Rochester Institute of Technology RIT Scholar Works

---

Presentations and other scholarship

Faculty & Staff Scholarship

---

2008

Story

Vincent Golphin

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.rit.edu/other>

---

Recommended Citation

Golphin, Vincent, "Story" (2008). Accessed from <https://scholarworks.rit.edu/other/743>

This Presentation is brought to you for free and open access by the Faculty & Staff Scholarship at RIT Scholar Works. It has been accepted for inclusion in Presentations and other scholarship by an authorized administrator of RIT Scholar Works. For more information, please contact ritscholarworks@rit.edu.

Event Name: RIT Faculty Scholars Series Presentation: Vincent F.A. Golphin

URL: <http://wally.rit.edu/events/facultyscholars/>

Category: Lecture/Speaker

Sub Category: The Wallace Center

Description: RIT Libraries' Faculty Scholars Series is proud to welcome:

Vincent F.A. Golphin
Assistant Professor of Creative Writing and Literary Cultural Studies
Department of English, RIT's College of Liberal Arts

for his presentation of

“Story”

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, 2008

3:00 – 5:00 pm

The Idea Factory in Wallace Library (Bldg. 5, 1st floor)

“Story” is the title and substance of a presentation of the academic pursuits of Vincent F. A. Golphin. Personal stories chart the basic elements of human lives and societies, and in that sense, are a glue that holds disparate parts into a structure. Stories are what Professor Golphin deals with in various forms in the classroom, speeches and publications as a poet, fiction writer, essayist, commentator, memoirist, cultural analyst and ethnographer. As the next featured Faculty Scholar, he will discuss the role of stories in society and culture and share how they are used in a recent memoir, poetry collection and ethnographic study.

This event is free and open to the public. Interpreters will be provided.